

Thursday November 20 2014
HEI Social Responsibility through Socially Engaged Courses

Faculty room / 8 floor , Bezalel Mount Scopus, Jerusalem

This workshop will focus on the interface between research, scholarship, teaching and learning in community engagement, exploring how these links are managed in the academic context.

15:00–15:30 Gathering and Greetings

Prof. Eva Illouz, President, Bezalel Academy of Arts and Design, Jerusalem

Hannah Moscovitz, Ben-Gurion University of the Negev

Introduction to Tempus-Esprit's work on socially engaged courses

15:30–16:30 Prof. Anne Boddington, Dean of College of Arts and Humanities University of Brighton, and Ross Clark, Research Officer, University of Brighton

Academic-Community Collaboration: a case for mutuality

16:30–16:45 Coffee Break

16:45– 17:45 Prof. Anne Boddington and Ross Clark

Social Engagement and Curriculum: Creating a usable body of knowledge into a working tool

Discussion

18:00–18:45 Prof. Daphna Golan, Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Community-Engaged Courses in Israel- the Political Context

Discussion

18:45–19:00 Conclusions

Please confirm your participation: Shelly@bezalel.ac.il